Additional information:

<sup>(1)</sup> Your deposit is covered by a contractual scheme officially recognised as a Deposit Guarantee Scheme. If insolvency of your credit institution should occur, your deposits would be repaid up to €100,000.

<sup>(2)</sup> If a deposit is completely unavailable owing to the credit institution being unable to meet its financial obligations, the depositors are reimbursed by means of a deposit guarantee system. The reimbursement covers a maximum amount of €100,000 per credit institution. This means that all deposit accounts in the same credit institution are added together for the purposes of determining the level of cover. For example, if the depositor is the holder of a savings account with a balance of €90,000 and of a current account with a balance of €20,000, only €100,000 will be reimbursed. The balance of a foreign currency deposit account will be converted into euros at the foreign exchange rate on that day.

<sup>(3)</sup> In the case of joint accounts, the €100,000 limit applies to each depositor. However, deposits in an account to which two or more people have access in the capacity of members of a business partnership, association or other similar grouping, with no legal personality, are aggregated and these are treated as one single depositor for the purposes of calculating the €100,000 limit. Deposits of over €100,000 are protected in the cases listed in indents a), b) and c) of Article 166(2) of the General Framework for Credit Institutions and Financial Companies. For further information, please see www.fgd.pt.
